Yummy Cafe Yummy Cafe (styled in upper case) is a chain of American breakfast and lunch-time restaurants. Founded in 1986 in Columbia, South Carolina, Yummy Cafe serves breakfast and lunch for the school-age population. The restaurants are on a franchise model that allows the company to manufacture food without ownership. History Beginnings James A. Green, CEO and founder, opened the first Yummy Cafe in 1986 with his then wife and business partner. While working for Ford Motor Company in 1978, James and his wife worked in New York City as a pastry chef for Jewish bakeries. That experience shaped the concept of the franchise which would help them expand the business, and retain the customers. Of the five original stores, the first stores are the only restaurant in the franchise to stay open late. Expansion James and his wife began franchising the business in 1987, selling fifty stores in under a year. Today, there are more than 1,000 locations across the United States. The first international stores opened in the mid 1990s in the United Kingdom and parts of Europe. In the 1990s and into the 2000s, the stores in the southeastern United States, such as Florida, South Carolina, Georgia, and Alabama, were the fastest-growing area of the United States. By the turn of the millennium, Yummy Cafe opened its first store in California. In 2012, the chain reported the number of stores and average sales for the year were almost double those of 2010. A decade earlier, average sales per store was $755,000. The 2012 retail sales were reported as $775,000, with an average of 16 locations. As of 2012, the average menu and food cost was $22.33 per meal. In 2013, the company had 942 stores and $877 million in sales. One in four customers are under the age of 25. As of 2013, the estimated average customer spend per visit is $24.80. In 2015, the company had 990 stores with an estimated $897 million in retail sales. Franchise model The company is not affiliated with the Yummy Cafe Cafe, an unrelated breakfast chain established in 1972 in the Washington, D.C., area. Like other franchise chains, Yummy Cafe is a franchise of a parent company that has its own managers and designers. The Columbia-based restaurant chain has never owned any of its stores. Instead,
